

Our theme for BSGAR 2025 is ‘Guided by the Evidence’ and as joint meeting presidents we would like to welcome you virtually to the South-west of England. We have endeavoured to compile a diverse programme that will inform and educate sub-specialist GI radiologists, general radiologists and trainees alike.

The programme commences with an update on the novel treatment options for HCC and the post-procedural appearances. No matter where you work these studies are bound to find their way on to your reporting lists. The importance of a robust fluoroscopy service in the modern NHS follows. We present the tips and tricks to emphasize its ongoing vital role in GI radiology.

The increasing risk of litigation is something that affects us all and in such circumstances the importance of personal well-being cannot be understated. We aim to break down the stigma attached to such difficult scenarios with experts who will guide us through the process.

The MDT remains the cornerstone of all GI radiologists’ working week, our penultimate session aims to update you on the latest evidence in order to facilitate optimal decision making. Finally, ‘I’m a GI radiologist.... get me out of here’ is a case-based review of those tricky Friday afternoon scenarios none of us feel comfortable with.

You will have plenty of choice of content with a variety of parallel sessions, sponsor exhibits and symposia, ‘Case of the Day’, the best of BSGAR, e-posters and abstracts. The ever-popular interesting case and scientific presentations and research and audit sessions guarantee to educate and entertain while our Junior BSGAR members can deepen their knowledge in dedicated sessions.

We are delighted to host Dr Adrian Brady, President of the European Society of Radiology, an internationally renowned abdominal interventionalist who will be delivering the Richard Farrow Memorial lecture on “AI in radiology – solving problems, or creating new ones?”

We look forward to welcoming new delegates and returning friends to our BSGAR community. Don’t forget to join in our social programme! This is a conference you cannot afford to miss!
